Overview:

The property represents a rare opportunity to acquire an attractive and versatile rural holding extending to approximately 5.79 hectares (14.31 acres) comprising a substantial range of agricultural and equestrian buildings together with a useful block of permanent pasture, all lying within a single ring fence. The property has been utilised as a smallholding for many years and offers considerable scope for a wide variety of purchasers. Whether seeking an equestrian property, a lifestyle holding, a base for a rural business, or a property with future potential, Brook Farm presents an exciting opportunity in an area where properties of this nature rarely become available.

Site of Former Mobile Home:

Situated to one side of the farmstead in a pleasant position, the site of a former residential mobile home, recently removed prior to sale, has benefited from long-established residential occupation and associated infrastructure. Purchasers may wish to consider the planning opportunities available.

Buildings:

Centred around a concrete yard, the property offers a useful range of agricultural and equestrian buildings which provide flexible accommodation. Suitable for continued agricultural and equestrian use, they may also appeal to purchasers seeking premises for rural enterprise or commercial activities, subject to obtaining any required consents.

Planning History & Potential:

The property lies within open countryside and is understood to not be covered by any statutory landscape or environmental designations. The property benefits from an established planning history, including planning permission 04/02133/FUL (the most recent) and the former siting of a residential mobile home which occupied the holding for many years prior to its recent removal by the vendors. Given the scale and substance of the buildings, combined with supportive permitted development policy, prospective purchasers may wish to investigate opportunities for redevelopment, diversification or alternative uses, subject to obtaining all necessary statutory consents. The Vendor's have received informal advice that converting the three main barns to create multiple residential units may be possible.

It should be noted that overage will not be applied.

Land:

The surrounding land complements the buildings, creating a versatile and highly functional holding. The land comprises a useful block of level permanent pasture lying within a single ring fence, classified as Grade 3 on the Agricultural Land Classification maps, base-rich loamy and clayey soils. The fields are principally enclosed by post and wire fencing together with mature hedgerows and established boundary trees which provide shelter and enhance the attractive rural character of the holding. Water is available to mains fed drinking troughs serving the majority of the paddocks. In addition to conventional grazing, the land is considered well suited to participation in environmental land management schemes, subject to eligibility and scheme requirements.
